

2021 Federated State of Micronesia Report / Get to know / Teachers / Resources

Resources

The resources teachers have at their disposal define the type of learning they can provide to their students. This includes the textbooks they provide, as well as the environment they work in and the time they have to complete their teaching and administrative tasks.

This section outlines how teachers in Federated States of Micronesia feel about the resources they have available.